CAS CONNECTIONS

Spring Term | Issue 22 | February 4, 2026

DEAN'S GREETINGS

Greetings, CAS Community,

First, welcome back to all of our students for the Spring 2026 academic term!

And second, we invite all in our community to take part in the CAS Human Rights Themed Semester. As you'll see below, the CAS curriculum this term includes 60 courses across our disciplines that devote some time to focusing on human rights issues, and we have a robust schedule of programming that features government and community leaders, our faculty and students, and key partners such as the Silk Road Cultural Center and the International Servant Leaders Museum. These courses and activities cover a range of issues, from workplace discrimination to environmental justice to housing justice and more. And because the human rights focus has attracted so much interest and attention from our community, the schedule of programming evolves as we speak.

Be sure to catch the Political Science day-long event tomorrow kicking off the semester with student-led panels, guest speakers, and comedian Rami Abushhab (see below for details!).

We are also super excited for the April 21st Human Rights Sing-Along at the International Servant Leaders Museum in Morton Grove. There will be food, a silent auction, and some powerful feelings of solidarity as we join together as a community, led by the experts and students of our Music Department, to sing songs celebrating human rights.

So, please join us and also feel free to participate in creating programming.

As the language of human rights doesn't seem to sit on the tips of our political tongues these days, we think it's important to revisit what a United Nations Commission articulated in 1948 in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as the rights we are all entitled to enjoy. As a nation and as a globe, we are falling short of honoring and protecting these rights, but highlighting our human rights to desirable work, rest, and leisure, an adequate living standard, education, freedom from arbitrary arrest, and fair public hearings–just to name a few of the declaration's 30 articles–reminds us of what we deserve and what we should expect to aspire to as a people, nation and global community.

And, to be clear, human rights research and advocacy have long been a hallmark of the CAS, and we intend this semester to highlight this work in an ongoing conversation and set of actions and to open our campus as a forum for community engagement around human rights issues.

All the best,

Tim Libretti
Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

STUDENT HIGHLIGHT

Thalia Piseaux Ochoa

English major

Pre-Law & Social Justice minors

What are your career goals?

I plan on becoming a lawyer either in the immigration or criminal justice fields. My family and I are immigrants and political refugees, therefore the immigration process is something that is very familiar to me. In our current times, when people like me are being persecuted for their background and skin color, I want to become someone who helps them and stands up for their rights. Whether that is at a county court or local protest.

What do you like about NEIU?

I love our diversity and access to different cultures and perspectives. I feel welcomed every time I enter the classroom and the professors are truly some of the best our city has to offer. I am very grateful for all of the opportunities that have come out of my time in this wonderful institution.

What are a few fun facts about you?

Fun things about me: I enjoy playing the guitar, creating art and watching films! Along with spending time with family, girlfriend and friends. My community at ALPFA has also helped me grow professionally.

ALUMNI HIGHLIGHT

Summer Baek

Applied Mathematics

What was your educational path?

I earned my second Bachelor of Arts in Applied Mathematics at NEIU (no minor). My first degree was in Tourism Management and Economics from a university in South Korea.

What is your current professional role?

I am currently a health actuary specializing in pricing. My work involves using data to estimate future healthcare costs and navigating government regulations to set fair premiums. I focus on determining insurance costs and benefit designs to ensure that coverage remains both affordable for members and sustainable in a changing market.

What do you remember about NEIU?

Although I only spent a year and a half on campus while completing my second degree, I truly valued the guidance I received. I regularly utilized my professors' office hours, not only for academic support but also for career advice. If I had been able to stay longer, I would have loved to join a student club.

Do you have any advice for current students?

I encourage students to stay engaged in classes, get to know their professors, and remain curious. For those entering a tough job market: keep trying and do not let setbacks discourage you. Every challenge is a step toward success. Specifically, if you are interested in actuarial work, I highly recommend taking the probability or financial mathematics classes offered by Professor Kahouadji. These cover the first two preliminary exams and provide a great sense of whether this career path is the right fit.

Anything else you want to add?

I want to emphasize that it is never too late to make a change. I was a career changer when I decided to pursue my second bachelor's degree at NEIU, and I finally found my passion after the age of 30. Where there is a will, there is a way.

FACULTY HIGHLIGHT

Dr. Susan Tang

Professor of Piano

What are your research interests?

In the past few years, through being a founding member of the Keys to Inclusion Initiative (a multi-institutional collaboration to expand the piano repertoire), I have been learning and researching piano music by Chicago's Florence Price, the first African American female composer who had a symphonic work performed by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra during the 1933 World's Fair. Her music is gorgeous and combines influence of gospel and spiritual music into a lush neo-romantic style of writing. I plan to program and record a bunch of her solo piano works in the near future, most of which are still rarely performed.

What is your favorite thing about NEIU?

Building community. I LOVE teaching students of all levels and mentoring future music teachers. I am so lucky I get to do all of that in my role at NEIU. I am able to connect with our North Park neighborhood through the Community Music Program which I started in 2012, and it is a joy to see our amazingly talented NEIU music students share their love for teaching with the broader community through providing high quality music lessons. In the summer, as co-director of the Chicago Chamber Music Festival, I get to work a group of some of the most talented pre-college music students from all over the greater Chicago area for a week of chamber music.

I am also very excited to announce that, this coming summer, NEIU will be the new home for the Chicago Suzuki Institute. This collaboration will bring more than 200 young music students and their families from across North America to our campus. It will be an amazing opportunity for professional development and Suzuki teacher training certification for our graduate students in Applied Pedagogy. As you can see, there is much activity going on in our music department, and I love the energy that comes with all of our collaborations.

What are your hobbies?

I love any opportunity to travel and experience the beauty of our surroundings! I also have two boys who keep me busy and provide an endless source of low brow comedic entertainment.

Is there anything else you want to mention?

The music department has a new Steinway concert grand piano in the recital hall. I was so honored to be able to help select the piano at the Steinway factory in NYC in December. It is a gorgeous instrument that will continue to benefit many generations of future music students at NEIU!

Staying the Course for Human Rights: From Awareness to Action

a College of Arts and Sciences themed semester

SPRING 2026

What is a themed semester?

A themed semester is a collection of classes, events, and activities that focus on a particular topic. Some classes will be heavily focused on the topic, while others add a unit or special activity to bring it in to an existing class.

Why human rights?

In this political moment, paying attention to human rights is critical. We need to be aware of what is going on in the world around us and educated on our rights so that we can forge the best path forward.

Who benefits?

Everyone! You can learn to protect yourself, your community, and your world if you are educated about and aware of human rights.

What are my human rights?

In 1948, the United Nations adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. It set out, for the first time, fundamental human rights to be universally protected. These rights are listed below, or you can go to bit.ly/UNHumanRights to learn more.

How do I participate?

You can participate in our themed semester by taking a class on our list or attending an event we are hosting. Click the button below for an up-to-date list of everything included in the themed semester, or email cas@neiu.edu with questions or comments.

Co-Curricular Activities

The Politics of Human Rights
February 5, 2026 | 10:45am - 4:30pm | SU 103 (Golden Eagles)

Join the Political Science Department for roundtables and a lecture on peace and human rights featuring NEIU Political Science Alumni and Comedian Rami Abushhabi.

2026 Chicago Student River Congress
February 28, 2026 | 8:30am - 1:30pm | NEIU Campus

NEIU is proud to host the 2026 Chicago River Student Congress, themed "Environmental Justice." This free, student-led conference brings together middle school, high school, and college students to share knowledge, lead activities, and learn from one another. The event is organized by Friends of the Chicago River, an award-winning conservation group that champions environmental justice, clean water, and public access to our urban river system.

Social Work Month
March 2026

March is Social Work Month and the SWK Department plans to align this theme with a series of events throughout the month, including a documentary viewing and panel; mental health first aid training; a panel with mental health partners from across the city; and a workshop on mental health, human rights, and harm reduction.

Art Exhibition
March 2026

As part of Art 250: Printmaking I, there will be an exhibition of a socially engaged printmaking project open to the public on the second floor of the FA building.

Breaking the Cycle: From Remembrance to Prevention
March 2 - 4, 2026 | NEIU Campus

NEIU's 12th annual Conference on Genocide and Human Rights in Africa and the Diaspora will focus on the link between the memory of past genocides and the prevention of future atrocities. Attendees will consider how the cycle of violence can be broken when the pain of the past can both inhibit the risk of political engagement and fuel the resentment of civil conflict.

Screening of the Film The Here Now Project
March 5, 2026 | 3:00 - 5:00pm | BBH 102

2021 was the year climate change came home. From the streets of Brooklyn to the forests of Siberia, a relentless barrage of fires, floods, and storms made devastatingly clear that the extreme weather climate scientists had been predicting for half a century had arrived. In a production of unprecedented scope, filmmakers Greg Jacobs and Jon Siskel chronicle that pivotal year through the eyes of everyday people around the world.

Servant Leadership for Human Rights Presentation
March 10, 2026 | 3:00 - 4:00pm | BBH 102

The co-founders of the International Servant Leaders Museum, Hamid Akbari and Azar Khounani, will provide an overview of why a servant leadership approach to leadership and communityship is essential for advancing and protecting human rights in our communities and workplaces. They will also talk about the work of founding the International Servant Leaders Museum and the role of NEIU in that work.

Fighting Discrimination in the Age of Trump
March 12, 2026 | 3:00 - 4:00pm | SU 103 (Golden Eagles)

State Senator Will Guzzardi, who represents the 39th District in the Illinois House serving several neighborhoods in Chicago, will lead an insightful panel discussion about discrimination in our current political climate.

Butterflies and Bumblebees: Music from the Children in Terezín
April 16, 2026 | 3:05pm | NEIU Recital Hall

The Department of Music and Dance will present a collaborative lecture recital on music learning practices within the context of human atrocities and the importance of art as a coping mechanism under the looming threat of genocide. The program will look specifically at the social and historical contextualization of education and art created by children and in the Theresienstadt concentration camp. Poems, music, and drawings created by the imprisoned children were smuggled out of Terezín and have been shared with the world, demonstrating the resilience of hope and how art can uplift us in times of tragedy.

The Clothesline Project
April 2026

This project is a means for women who have experienced violence to express their experiences by decorating a t-shirt, which is then hung on a clothesline display. The intention of the display is to honor survivors and act as a memorial for victims, and to educate society and promote awareness about the extent of violent crimes against women.

International Dalit Literature Festival
April 18, 2026

This festival brings together writers, scholars, and activists whose work confronts caste-based oppression and highlights struggles for dignity, equality, and justice. By centering Dalit voices, the festival underscores how literature can illuminate human rights issues and inspire movements for social change.

FULL-ON CLEOPATRA
April 15 - 25, 2026 | Stage Center Theatre

Stage Center Theatre's spring production of FULL ON CLEOPATRA by Yussef El Guindi will mark their second production in partnership with Silk Road Cultural Center (previously Black Bear Island). In this work, Egyptian American playwright El Guindi seeks to reclaim a critical lens for Cleopatra's story stolen and erased by colonial and conquering history. This work boldly tackles the themes of our Human Rights semester by taking a decidedly post/anti-colonial stance to the harms that Rome and the west perpetuated upon Egyptian narratives.

Race and Housing on Chicago's South Side
April 21, 2026 | 3:00pm

Dr. Mary Pattillo of the Sociology Program at Northwestern will be speaking on issues of urban housing patterns and the impact of racism and discrimination on the South side of Chicago. Her work focuses on race and ethnicity, urban sociology, inequality, housing, education, criminal legal studies, Black communities, and qualitative methods. Pattillo strives to be an expert in Chicago history, politics, and social life.

Pre-Law Minor

The Pre-Law minor supports undergraduate students pursuing law school, as well as those interested in understanding the design and impact of our legal system. Acquire skills and knowledge relevant to legal careers, while drilling down into areas of law most fascinating to you. With course offerings across eight different NEIU programs, the Pre-Law minor will help you see our legal system in a whole new, interdisciplinary light!

Required Courses

JUST-205: Law & Society

Law permeates every aspect of our lives, permitting and banning, safeguarding and prosecuting, legitimizing and stigmatizing. This course concerns the roles that laws play in all of our daily lives. We will examine theories of law and justice, the role of legal actors and institutions in constructing and enforcing laws, the main types of law, how the law shapes and is shaped by inequality and social change, and pathways into legal careers.

PHIL-201: Logic I

Introductory course in symbolic logic, dealing with propositional calculus, quantification theory and the logic of relations and classes.

PSCI-320: Constitutional Law

The role of the Supreme Court and its impact on the constitutional development of the due process clause, civil liberties, First Amendment freedoms, and the equal protection of the law are traced with particular emphasis on the assessment of the role of the Supreme Court vis-a-vis the states and the national government in protecting and restricting civil liberties.

Plus 3 Pre-Law Electives

The three electives should be taken in at least two different programs, with eight programs to choose from!

Join the CAS Student Advisory Board!

Northeastern Illinois University's College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) has assembled a Student Advisory Board to provide the Dean's Office with insights into student experiences in the CAS and to raise issues/concerns regarding processes on campus.

The board consists of up to 15 undergraduate students (and two alternates) representing a variety of CAS majors and life experiences. The advisory group will meet approximately three times a semester with the CAS Deans and may be asked to provide feedback on urgent matters between meetings. Advisory board members are also expected to be available a few times a semester to promote the college and provide a student voice at various events during the year.

The Student Advisory Board provides students with leadership opportunities, centers students in CAS decision-making, affirms and acknowledges student experiences and allows students to help share and improve processes. Students should be able to commit to one academic year and will not be able to serve more than two years on the board.

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and new board members will be announced every September.
