Korean Fine Arts Exhibition

WHAT: A rare opportunity to view some of the finest examples of Korean art from the collection of renowned art dealer Andrew Bae. Don't miss this chance to spend an evening viewing these exquisite pieces of contemporary and traditional Korean art and listen to Bae give valuable insight into the history and the future of these cultural treasures.

This event is free and open to the public. A light dinner will be served.

WHEN: Tuesday, December 5 at 7 p.m.

WHERE: Andrew Bae Gallery
300 W. Superior Street Chicago, IL 60610
The gallery is located at the corner of Superior and Franklin, in the heart of Chicago's River North art gallery district. Enter on Franklin Street.

DETAILS: For the past 15 years, the Andrew Bae Gallery has been dedicated to introducing contemporary works by Asian artists, primarily those with ties to Korea and Japan. Since its inception, the gallery has successfully established recognition from the unfamiliar eyes and minds of new American collectors and museums. Focusing on a relatively small group of talented artists, the gallery carefully selects works for their irrefutable originality and distinct aesthetics.

Visitors to the gallery will experience a uniquely soothing environment imbued with selections from its collection, which the gallery owner Andrew Bae describes as "Asian aesthetics with universal appeal."

This program is being sponsored by Northeastern Illinois University's Asian Programs and the Korean American Women's Association through a grant provided by the Illinois Humanities Council.
