Dr. Scott is an Associate Professor of Philosophy at Loyola University. She is the co-editor of Critical Affinities: Nietzsche and African American Thought. She is currently working on a book entitled, Nietzsche's Worthy Opponents: Socrates, Wagner, the Ascetic Priest and Women. Additionally, she serves as a subject editor for the Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy.

"Truth-tellers are not always palatable: On the benefits of racialized and gendered discomfort"

Thursday, March 12th
3-4:45 PM, Golden Eagles Followed by a public reception

Inspire is to breathe life into; Trivia is the Triple Goddess of crossroads.