Presented by Steve Grove

Nobody cares how much you know, Until they know how much you care. Theodore Roosevelt 1858-1919
How are jobs and work opportunities created? How do personal choices influence the quality of your opportunities? What's different with today's best employment opportunities? What do these expect from their new hires? What should you expect from them? What should you know about today's economy and how it works that will strengthen and enhance your ability to evaluate work opportunities? What should you focus on for your continuing education and personal growth? FIND OUT!!!
