

Documentation of learning for the UWW curriculum can take a variety of forms, such as:

- Documentation of product: paintings, pottery, written paper, manuals, case studies, annotated bibliographies
- Documentation of performance: evaluations of teaching or speaking engagements
- Third party validation: certificates, licenses, evaluative letter, job performance evaluation
- Official transcripts : original transcripts from all post-secondary institutions where a student earned credits
- Tests and examination results : scores earned on the CLEP (College Level Examination Program) exams, technical exams or other proficiency tests. Students provide documentation for all of the prior and proposed new learning included in their curriculum. Documentation of learning that occurs during each semester accompanies Semester Report.
